Where personal data is processed for direct marketing purposes (i.e. dispatching letters of information), the data subject shall have the right to object at any time to processing of personal data concerning them for such purposes, which includes profiling to the extent that it is related to such direct marketing. Within five years after the death of the data subject, their rights relating to data processing as determined by the present Policy may be exercised by a person authorised for administrative representation as specified by public document or private document of full probative value by issuing a statement to this end to the Controller – insofar as the data subject made multiple statements to a single Controller, according to the latest of said statements. In the absence of suitable authorisation, close relatives pursuant to the Civil Code of Hungary are entitled to exercise the deceased person's rights pursuant to Article 16 (right to rectification) and Article 21 (right to object), furthermore – insofar as the data processing was unlawful prior to or the purpose of the data processing has ceased to exist upon the death of the data subject – those pursuant to Article 17 (right to erasure) and Article 18 (right to restriction of processing) of the Regulation. The rights pursuant to this paragraph may be exercised by close relatives who are the first to validate said entitlement.
